Horoscopes It's in the Stars

WEEK OF FEB. 17,

BORN THIS WEEK: You always try to do the right thing, and for the right reasons. No wonder people have come to depend on you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stop being the wool-gathering Lamb, and start turning that dream project into reality. You have the ideas, the drive and the charisma to persuade others to follow your lead. So do it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You've scored some big successes. But remember that all hardworking Ferdinands and Ferdinandas need some time to restore their energies and refresh their spirits.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You're gaining a stronger mental image of what you're trying to achieve. Now look for the facts that will help get this to develop from a concept into a solid proposal.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Some of you eager-to-please Moon Children might want to delay some decisions until midweek, when you can again think more with your head than your heart.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A new business venture seems to offer everything you've been looking for. But be careful that that rosy picture doesn't betray traces of red ink under the surface.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A volatile situation needs the kind of thoughtful and considerate care you can provide right now. There'll be plenty of time later to analyze what might have gone wrong.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your loyalty to a friend in a tough situation earns you respect from people you care about. Those who criticize you don't understand what friendship is all about.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your strong work ethic is rewarded with the kind of challenging opportunity you love to tackle. Now, go ahead and celebrate with family and/or close friends.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A legal matter you thought had been finally resolved could require a second look. But don't make any moves without consulting your lawyer.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Taking charge is what you like to do, and since you do it so well, expect to be asked to lead a special group. This could open an exciting new vista for you.

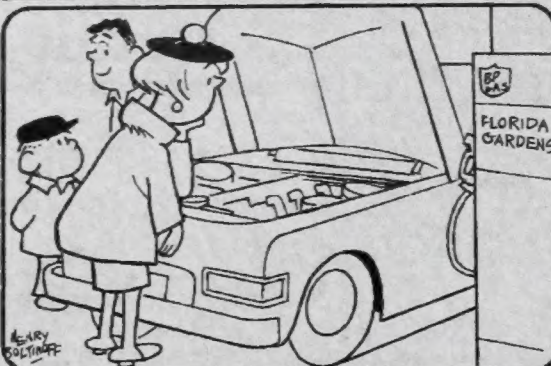

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) An important matter might wind up being entrusted to you for handling. The responsibility is heavy, but you'll have support from people able and eager to help.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A spouse or partner might make an important, even life-changing, suggestion. Consider it carefully. It could hold some of the answers you've both been looking for.

Get ready for some serious fun in Dorset this weekend... Everyone from each corner of the County is invited to come and join the fun at the 18th annual Dorset Snowball Winter Carnival!

The festivities begin Friday evening with a family skating party with music, hot dogs and hot chocolate. The fun continues with the famous Adult Broomball Tournament. Saturday's events include a pancake breakfast, a parade, horse drawn wagon rides, Mini-Snowmobile rides, displays and demonstrations, entertainment, food, music and more. Be sure to buy your $3 Snowball Button at one of the many local merchants selling them (all events require one).

Several community members in and around Dorset spend the entire week leading up to Snowball constructing amazing snow sculptures in their own backyards (weather permitting). Why not try one yourself? Hint: mix snow with water, wear rubber gloves and mold. Start with a base and add to it each day until frozen. Avoid extending limbs which seem to fall off easily.

On Friday evening around supper time, there is a skating party with music for children and adults and this event has become a tradition as a family outing for several residents of Dorset. Great music – great skating! There will be hot chocolate and hot dogs around the rink for those who want to warm up or get hungry after all that skating.

The really big event that everyone looks forward to on Friday night is the Broomball Tournament. People form their teams in advance (6 players, at least 1 girl per team) and give themselves names such as "The Dorset Doorknobs". The big challenge of the evening is to beat the Dorset Volunteer Fire Department team, and this has been done – but it is a challenge! Call the Rec Centre at 766-9968 to register your team (registration in advance is required). Advance registration is $10/team, on the day it's $20/team. Registration fees are shared with the winners – 50% to the winning team, 25% to second place and 25% to Snowball.

Saturday's events begin with a pancake breakfast provided by the Dorset Volunteer Fire Department (who are all sore after the big game the night before!). It's an all you can eat breakfast and wonderfully delicious!

After the breakfast, everyone heads outside to see the Dorset Snowball parade. Anyone can be in the parade and they all meet at the designated time at the Dorset Garage. Organizers are challenging all local businesses to enter a float in the parade – no float is too big – no float is too small! Call the Rec Centre at 766-9968 for more information. The parade proceeds down Main Street, over the single lane bridge, past Robinson's General Store and on to the Recreation Centre where the parade wraps up. The official opening ceremony and ribbon cutting then takes place where the parade ends.

Public parking and Shuttle Service will be available from the Portico Timber Frame Office on Hwy 35. Access to Main Street is via Hwy 117 and Harvey Avenue. The northern entrance from Hwy 35 to Main Street will be closed. Limited parking is available at the Fiery Grill or Robinson's General Store. For more information call the Dorset Recreation Centre (705) 766-9968.

HALIBURTON RESIDENTS RESPOND TO THE CALL

By Jerelyn Craden

Taking a stand for the world

"Whatever we do to the Earth's web, we do to ourselves."

Birth of Pachamama Alliance

Pachamama, a word that refers to sacred Mother Earth, is an alliance born in response to a call from the Achuar, an indigenous people who live deep in the Amazon region of Ecuador, and whose recurring dream of impending doom compelled them to seek aid from people in the modern world.

Upon hearing the call—Lynne and Bill Twist, key worldwide

On Thursday evening, February 7, 2008, 50 people gathered at the Minden Community Centre for a five hour, interactive experience that changed the way they look at our planet, and put hope for the future back in their hands. A powerful wake-up call -- Awakening the Dreamer, Changing the Dream Symposium -- hosted by Carol Kilby of Haliburton's Gaia Centre, and facilitated by Tom Pickens and Janet Laughton-Mackay, with the support of Carol Bates and Chris Elkins, all with Pachamama Alliance, featured video clips of leading scientists, community leaders and philosophers, plus interactive discussions and exercises. The topic—What you can do to create an environmentally sustainable, spiritually fulfilling, socially just human presence on our planet as the guiding principle for our time.

A soft-spoken woman, Janet Laughton-Mackay told the group, "I was inspired to join Pachamama Alliance after hearing a poem by social activist and cosmologist, Drew Derringer. 'It's 3:23 in the morning and I'm awake. Because my great, great grandchildren won't let me sleep. My great, great grandchildren ask me ...in dreams, 'What did you do when the planet was plundered? What did you do when the Earth was unraveling? Surely, you did something when the seasons started failing. As the mammals, reptiles, birds were all dying. Did you fill the streets with protest when democracy was stolen? What did you do once you knew?'" fundraisers for the Hunger Project, put together a group of 12 philanthropists and translators and went into the jungle to find out how they could aid in protecting the Achuar's way of life and their two million acres of pristine tropical rainforest from being destroyed by big oil, big government, and big money.

Singing The Earth Song

At the heart of the Alliance

An indigenous elder told the Americans: "If you have come to help us, do not waste your time. But if you are coming because your liberation is bound up with ours, then let us work together."

Lynne Twist, in the symposium's opening video, explained: "From the very beginning, our indigenous partners told us that working with them in the Amazon shoulder-to-shoulder was only half the battle. If we really wanted to protect their lands permanently, we would need to go to work in our part of the world and, as they put it, we would need to change the dream of the north, the dream of the modern world. A dream rooted in consumption and acquisition without any regard to the consequences to the natural world or our future."

Husband and co-founder, Bill Twist, added: "Out of our work with the Achuar, we came to see that we, in the modern world, truly are in some kind of a trance. Living in a dream that's threatening to destroy not only the rainforest and their way of life, but the health and well-being of our entire planet. Our society is on a completely unsustainable path and experts everywhere are saying we have a limited time to turn things around."

The insight of their indigenous partners was clear: We are all connected. Whatever we do to the Earth's web, we do to ourselves.

Changing the Dream

Today, the San Francisco based not-for-profit organization provides the Achuar with the knowledge, skills and experience they need to be able to translate their vision into the language of modern society – a language of rights, laws, plans and finance – so that they may influence and prevail in deliberations about the future development of their territories. The results – the Achuar have been able

An Ecological Footprint

Minden residents, Ben and Laurie Piels, were drawn to the "positive energy that we knew would be at the symposium." Taking part in several group sharing exercises, they tied a hand-woven bracelet on each other's wrist to remind them of their responsibility to consciously change their own ecological footprint.

An eco-footprint measures how much of nature's carrying capacity we use to feed, clothe, and otherwise maintain ourselves. All consumption of energy and materials, and all discharge of wastes, require land or water for resource production or waste disposal. In 2007, the U.S. consumed 1 ½ times earth's energy. Today, it consumes 5 times earth's energy. The collective "footprint" of the 8.5 million people in Los Angeles County alone is 40 times larger than the land area of the country itself – larger than the entire land area of California. This means that Los Angeles County residents are essentially "borrowing" land from other parts of the country and the world. To gauge your own ecological footprint, go to: www.myfootprint.org.

Discovering Your Purpose

The Piels, along with other participants, were asked to separate a piece of paper into 3 columns. At the top of the left column they wrote: What are my joys? Top of the right column: What is needed? In the center – How can I combine the two so that what I do is both joyful and helpful in creating ecological sustainability for our planet?

A New Vision

When the Symposium was launched in San Francisco three years ago, there were two facilitators. Today, there are over 750 facilitators with 7 facilitator trainings per year.

The Alliance is clear that there is now an unprecedented opportunity to live from a new vision, one made possible by the merging of two ways of seeing the world that until now have seemed to be totally distinct – a marriage of the technological skill of the modern world, with the earth-honoring wisdom of indigenous cultures.

The symposium ended with an inspiring and sobering quote from Archbishop Desmond Tutu: "We're the people we've been waiting for. Every one of us can do something to make a difference."

When We Were Young

Liz Danielsen
Staff Reporter

"What if?" Lost in the woods? Wolves on the chase or dogs to the rescue! These are just a few of the endless possibilities when writing a story, particularly when your instructor is Jerelyn Craden and you're either a senior or a grade 5/6 student working together in a workshop to learn about story structure at the Wilberforce Elementary School.

The County Voice was recently treated to an invitation to sit in on an exciting intergenerational project called "When We Were Young". The project is part of a program called "New Horizons for Seniors", a Human Resources and Social Development Canada program that encourages seniors to contribute to their communities by planning and participating in activities that benefit both. The program encourages local partnerships and builds on community strengths. Seniors working with students seemed a perfect next step.

"When We Were Young" is a project developed by Shelley King, the coordinator of the New Horizons project. The project is the second one to receive approval, something King says is quite rare, but attributes to the success of New Horizons' first project Generation to Generation: Haliburton County Seniors tell their stories.

For the "When We Were Young" project seniors and grade 5 and 6 students work together to write and illustrate a short story book. The collaboration encourages relationship building between generations and promotes greater understanding, acceptance and respect. Throughout a busy schedule of workshops participants will be guided each step of the way. In an exciting conclusion to the project, theatrical adaptations of their stories will be presented to the public in two performances early in May. Books will also be available

Jerelyn Craden

Outshining the Moon. Craden's contribution to the project is to instruct the group in story structure. She spoke about developing each individual's personal and unique experiences into a story, adding that it's a wonderful freedom to have a structure to 'hang' that story on. Craden's own enthusiasm for story telling caused a lot of animated discussion from both young and old, particularly when the students were told that each story could be enhanced in a limitless way by their own imaginations. Craden spoke about "turning on the light switch of your mind" and how to use your imagination to fill in the details of a story. She provided participants with a checklist of sorts to follow when creating a story. As a bit of a learning aid, Craden passed out index cards to the group, suggesting that the writers carry the cards with them and jot down ideas then they saw something of beauty or interest, or when they had ideas or experienced feelings that they want to remember. She called these notes 'little gems' that could form the basis for a story or provide details that might enhance the story.

Craden's presentation on story structure included everything from the goal of telling a story to creating conflict and tension that would help to keep the reader involved. She instructed the class on how to build the main character, the benefit of adding additional characters, creating opening 'narrative hooks' and how to bring the story to a satisfactory conclusion.

Breaks were taken during the workshop to allow the students to work with their partners to decide on the basis for their story and to approve their main characters. During that time it became evident that some of the students were working with a grandparent and that other students worked on-line with their partners. Discussions with Bob Penfold, the Chairman of Community Care-Haliburton County's New Horizons Advisory Committee, provided some of the details on criteria used in the selection of seniors. During the first project, many seniors had put their names forward to be involved. Some of the seniors didn't want to be actively involved in a class structure and some of those names were put forward for this project. Another criterion was seniority for sale with the proceeds helping to fund future intergenerational projects.

The stories themselves are intended to come from the childhood memories of participating seniors. Through workshops facilitated by a number of local artists, some of them seniors themselves, both generations learn to develop their writing, illustrating, puppetry, drama, script-writing, film-making and performing skills.

This workshop was presented by artist and writer Jerelyn Craden: everyone's imagination was fueled by Jerelyn's own passion and enthusiastic instruction. Craden, relatively new to Haliburton, is an award winning TV writer and author of Vessie Flamingo:

"Turn on the light switch of your mind!"

and as mentioned above, several of the students wanted to work with their grandparents. Penfold's enthusiasm for the project was evident by the "Grandpa Bob" sign that he wore with pride as he moved throughout the room.

In efforts to break the ice between the seniors and students, the seniors were asked to bring something with them from their past to show the children, creating another story they could share. But it was apparent that there was little ice to break, particularly with the infectious enthusiasm of their instructor, Jerelyn Craden, and Shelley King, who facilitated the morning workshop. In a document that welcomed the group at the beginning of the project in January, King assured all participants that they didn't have to worry about having any previous artistic experience or skills. The most important goal of the project is to have the students and seniors have some fun together and to develop mutual respect. King's welcoming notes suggest that some of the seniors might prefer a more 'behind the scenes' role in the performance part of the project while others may look forward with great anticipation to having a few minutes of being in the spotlight.

Craden will return next week to help guide the students through to the completion of their stories. When she is finished with her part of the process, three other guest artists, Linda Middleton and Sharon Lawrence will guide the group in developing illustrations for the stories. Future workshops include presentations by Fay Wilkinson, Bailey Renshaw and Kathryn Boyd on various dramatic approaches that can be used in performing the stories, including storytelling with masks, puppets, and one-act plays. Seniors and students will select their approach and the artists will work with them in small groups to teach the process of planning and writing a performance and completing the adaptation of their story. Director Ryan Dawson will lead the rehearsals of "When We Were Young" in preparation for their final performance.

What was most evident from our visit is that the group is off to a wonderful start. Everyone is working centre stage right now, creative juices are flowing and imaginations are aflame; all indications that we can look forward with great anticipation to some delightful performances on Friday, May 2nd at the Lloyd Watson Centre.

Snakes In A School

Kadie Raimsey

A presentation called Species at Risk, a Reptile Workshop, has been touring Haliburton County's elementary schools this month, fetching up at Wilberforce Elementary last week. Sponsored in partnership with the Haliburton Highlands Stewardship Council, students get to touch, play with, and learn lots about our reptilian friends: as you can see from these pics, these snakes made more than a few friends in Wilberforce.

Cycling Coalition Holds Open House in Wilberforce...

Members of the Haliburton Highlands Cycling Coalition, working in concert with The County of Haliburton, held an Open House at the Lloyd Watson Community Centre in Wilberforce on Tuesday afternoon and evening, February 12th.

This is one of a series of open houses being held throughout the County in February. The Cycling Master Plan is a strategic planning document meant to aid in the formation of future transportation, tourism and economic development planning decisions. The plan focuses on road cycling and builds on existing advantages, considers future requirements for infrastructure, promotion and awareness, education, policy and programs. The overall goal of this community-driven group is to establish a premier cycling network for cycling of all kinds, for all ages in Haliburton County.

The Haliburton Highlands Cycling Coalition was formed in 2005 and has a number of partners including the HKPR District Health Unit, Haliburton County Tourism, and the U-Links Centre for Community-Based Research, Haliburton Highlands Trails and Tours, Network Health for Life and the cycling public.

The desired outcomes of the master plan include identifying a variety of route options that can accommodate different cycling skill levels, the safety and comfort of cyclists, developing a signage strategy and increasing amenities such as bike racks and lockers.

Next steps for the Cycling Coalition and County are to compile the information gathered through these open houses and develop a staged action plan with short and long term priorities. Copies of the final plan will be distributed or be accessible to anyone with an interest.

The plan will then be used as a tool at both the Municipal and County levels to utilize when making long term planning decisions.

Paudash Trail Blazers BBQ A Huge Success!

Mother Nature blessed anxious snowmobilers with lots of fresh powder the day before the Annual Paudash Trail Blazers BBQ held recently. Roughly 400 people – and over 500 burgers and 700 hot dogs later – the event proved to be very popular.

After 30 Years as an organized Club, the Paudash Trail Blazers continue to remain strong and consistent in membership which allows organizers to put together an event like the recent Demo ride which was a popular event at the well attended BBQ. "Seriously, without the membership base that we have, we would not exist as a Club. It is not often that we have a chance to give back to the members, but we were lucky enough to be in a position this year where we could!" said Collen Hawkin – board member of the Paudash Trail Blazers.

On behalf of the Paudash Trail Blazers, a very sincere and heartfelt thank you to all our of long-time Club Members and Supporters!

covered the entire food bill for the day. Everyone who visited the BBQ ate for free and that was thanks to Yamaha. "At rough count, we went through almost 500 hamburgers, several hundred hotdogs, and honestly we lost total track of the numbers of pop, water, chips, coffee and hot chocolates that were served. By 2:30PM, we were pretty well out of everything. We sold roughly 50 Paudash hats and several sweaters were also ordered," exclaimed Collen.

Grand Prize tickets were sold for $10 each, 3 for $25. It included a variety of donations including hats, tools, Yamaha promo items, an HJC caddy and many more items. The grand prize winner was Herb Hammond, a dedicated volunteer with the Maple Leaf Snow Skimmers Snowmobile Club. Congratulations Herb!!

50/50 tickets were sold at $2 each and the total at the time of the draw was over 250 tickets or just slightly over $500. Susan Clarke along with one year old Heike of Eel's Lake, was handed a nice little envelope with just over $250 in cash. Not bad for a $2 ticket!! But watch that little one - she's eyeing the dough!!

So, another BBQ is in the Books!

This was a special year with the 30th Anniversary and it will be hard to top, but plans are already underway for 2009. Thank you again from everyone at the Paudash Trail Blazers!

Organizers would like to thank the following businesses for making this event such a huge success: Agnews General Store, Alison Small Engines, Bancroft Auto Body, Bancroft Carquest, Bancroft Sport and Marine, Bensons Autoparts, Birds Creek Feed, C. Bamford and Sons Construction, Cardiff Corner Store, Cross Roads Café, DBS – Scott Crichton, Donia's Timbermart, Dufferin Concrete, Dunfords of Havelock, Gateway Powersports and Marine, Hunters General Store, Mark's Towing, Mumford Station, N.H. Wilson Lumber, Relax by the Lake, Royal Distributing, Sandman Inn, Schwandt Lumber, Snow City, Somerset Inn, South Algonquin Store, Stephen McDonald's Shell, The Pheasant Restaurant, Tim Hortons, Tuckers Marine, Wayne's World Polaris, Vista Signs, Wilberforce Esso and Youngdale Fuels.

Club members would also like to thank Yamaha Motor Canada, Tucker's Marine (Apsley) and DT Powersport and Marine (Uxbridge). Apparently this was one of Yamaha's most successful Demo rides of the year and the Paudash Trail Blazers blew them away by the huge turnout and the enthusiasm of the club. Every Demo ride from the start of the day to the end with roughly 14 demo sleds in each ride was full and still had a line of people waiting for a turn. Impressive!! There is already talk of making this an annual event. Can you believe it??

In recognition of the Club, Yamaha presented the Paudash Trail Blazers with a cheque for $750 dollars which

"Let's try our hardest to attract new riders"

OFSA President Rides The Local Trails

The Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Associations (OFSA) President's Ride rolled through the Bancroft and Haliburton Highlands areas this week to meet and greet local snowmobile officials and volunteers. "We wanted to concentrate this year on our core areas for snowmobilers – Haliburton, Bancroft, Muskoka and Parry Sound – where our clubs have big memberships and a long history in the sport," said OFSA President Bruce Robinson. "My wife Liz and I started out from my home club of Kemptville on the weekend, came through Kaladar and Apsley, and last night the Paudash Trailblazers and their President Chris McIntyre hosted us at the Martinwood Resort in Harcourt. We'd visited the Paudash Clubhouse earlier in the day and it was great to meet the local volunteers."

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association hosted the Robinson's and District Governor Terry Vaudry from Pembroke at a lunch at McKecks Place in Haliburton on Tuesday: the full executive and volunteers hosted a dinner on Tuesday night as well at the Pinestone. This is Robinson's second President's Ride, which he describes as a great opportunity to meet the membership and try to spread some new ideas. "We travel for three weeks trying to meet as many members as possible. This year we're hitting the real heart of snowmobiling, where we have a great history. And I think it's really important that the members have a chance to see me and talk about our future – for one thing to realize that the President really does ride! And this year with the provincial government's promise of sustainable funding in place it means we can work with local associations such as the HCSA to expand the sport and put the new dollars to good use."

The provincial government has promised $3 million this year in funding, with subsequent years' budgets yet to be worked out. Robinson wants some of the money allocated to attracting new people to the sport. "Let's see how attractive we can make our sport for those who might be a little sceptical: let's make it really attractive to try it out, for example by making certain our signage is first rate; we also need to provide excellent routes to learn on, show newcomers where to get gas even – we want to invest in ways to make our sport really user friendly. We have the budget to do that now, so we want to get moving."

-Robinson is always happy to be back in Haliburton: he's the brother of Dale Robinson, long time Haliburton teacher and superintendent and is very familiar with the area. "You've really got it all here, and in Bancroft: we're going to do our best to make it even better."

In Memory of

Mom...

We miss your smile and the way you laugh
We miss your wisdom and talks we had
We miss your home cooked meals a lot
The things you did - we haven't forgot
It's been two years now - how time can fly
There have been days where we still cry
But those tears we shed are just a sign
Of how much we miss you - but don't worry we're fine
It won't be long before we see you again
So keep busy up there and make some friends
Someday the family will all be one
So till then smile down upon us through the bright warm sun

We love you and miss you - we'll see you in our dreams
Your husband Bill, and family- Joanne, Brett, Nancy, Gloria, Barb, Shawn, Colin, Sherry, Cody, Josh, Brandon & Jared.

Volunteers - Help Wanted

Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion VOLUNTEER THEATRE STAFF

We're creating a team of volunteers to assist in the smooth running of the Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion. Would you like to join our team? Participants will be involved in several different aspects of the theatre including front of the house, technical, general upkeep and many other tasks to be found around the theatre. If you think that one or more of these jobs would suit you, then give Caryl Miller a call at 754-1919. She'll give you more information. This is the start of a new venture for the Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion. We hope that, with your help, we'll be able to form a valuable and fun team to assist in the running of our Theatre. caryl@hughes.net
